For the prevention and cure
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of person can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold it taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

FROM THE RICHMOND ENQUIRER.

Sketches of the life and character of Patrick Henry. Printed at Philadelphia, pp. 427.

Before the sitting of the legislature, and on the 6th of June, 1799, this great statesman—this unrivalled orator—this friend of liberty and of man, loaded with years and honors, breathed his last.

"Thus lived, and thus died (says our author) the celebrated Patrick Henry of Virginia; a man who justly deserves to be ranked among the highest ornaments, and noblest benefactors of his country. Had his lot been cast in the republics of Greece or Rome, his name would have been enrolled by some immortal pen, among the expellers of tyrants, and the champions of liberty: the proudest monuments of national gratitude would have risen to his honor, and handed down his memory to future generations. As it is, his fame as yet is left to rest upon tradition, and on that short notice which general history can take of him; while no memorial, no slab even, raised by the hand of national gratitude, points us to his grave, or tells where sleep the ashes of the patriot and the sage.—May we not hope, that this reproach upon the state will be soon wiped away, and that ample atonement will be made for our past neglect."

The concluding section of our author's work, is one of the most valuable in it. It abounds with judicious remarks, profound observations, & a variety of miscellaneous information, which he had not been able to communicate before without breaking upon the unity of his narrative. We shall give but one example in the following paragraph, extracted from p. 401-2:

"Mr Henry's conversation was remarkably pure and chaste. He never swore—he was never heard to take the name of his Maker in vain.—He was a sincere christian, though after a form of his own; for he was never attached to any particular religious society, and never, it is believed, communed with any church. A friend who visited him not long before his death, found him engaged in reading the bible: "here," said he, holding it up, "is a book worth more than all the other books that were ever printed: yet it is my misfortune never to have found time to read it, with the proper attention and feeling, till lately. I trust in the mercy of heaven, that it is not yet too late." He was much pleased with Soame Jenyns' view of the internal evidences of the christian religion—so much so that, about the year 1799, he had an impression of it struck at his own expence, amd distributed among the people. His other favorite works on the subject were Doddridge's "Rise and Progress of Religion in the Soul," and Butler's "Analogy of Religion, Natural and Revealed." This latter work he used at one period of his life, to style by way of pre-eminence, his bible. The selection proves not only the piety of his temper, but the correctness of his taste, and his relish for profound and vigorous disquisition."

The following extract concludes the book:

"It has been said of Mr. Henry, with inimitable felicity, that he was SHAKESPEARE and GARRICK COMBINED!" Let the reader then, imagine the wonderful talents of those two men, united in the same individual, and transferred from scenes of fiction to the business of real life, and he will have formed a just conception of the powers of Patrick Henry. In a word, he was one of those perfect prodigies of nature, of whom very few have been produced since the foundations of the earth were laid; and of HIM, may it be said, as truly as of any one that ever existed,

"He was a man, take him for all in all,
We ne'er shall look upon his like again."

In the course of our account of this work we have omitted to give several proofs of Mr. Henry's political foresight and intuitive knowledge of men, which fully establish the truth of our author's observations on this part of his character. We now supply that omission, by presenting our readers with the following anecdotes of him. See p. 93.

The first is contained in a letter from Mr. Pope to our author, in the following words:

"I am informed by Col. John Overton, that before one drop of blood was shed in our contest with G. Britain, he was at Col. Samuel Overton's, in company with Mr. Henry, Colonel Morris, John Hawkins, and Col. Samuel Overton, when the last mentioned gentleman asked Mr. Henry 'whether he supposed Great Britain would drive her colonies to extremities?—And if she should, what he thought would be the issue of the war?' When Mr. Henry, after looking round to see who were present, expressed himself confidentially to the company in the following manner: 'She will drive us to extremities—no accommodation will take place—hostilities will soon commence—and a desperate and bloody touch it will be.' 'But,' said Col. Samuel Overton, 'do you think, Mr. Henry, that an infant nation, as we are, without discipline, arms, ammunition, ships of war, or money to procure them—do you think it possible, thus circumstanced, to oppose successfully the fleets and armies of Gr. Britain?' 'I will be candid with you,' replied Mr. Henry. 'I doubt whether we shall be able, alone, to cope with so powerful a nation. But,' continued he, (rising from his chair with great animation) 'where is France? Where is Spain? Where is Holland? the natural enemies of Great Britain.—Where will they be all this while?—Do you suppose they will stand by idle and indifferent spectators of the contest? Will Louis the XVI. be asleep all this time? Believe me, no! When Louis the XVI. shall be satisfied by our serious opposition, and our Declaration of Independence, that all prospect of reconciliation is gone, then, and not till then, will he furnish us with arms, ammunition and clothing; and not with these only, but he will send his fleets and armies to fight our battles for us; he will form with us a treaty offensive and defensive against our unnatural mother.—Spain and Holland will join the confederation! Our independence will be established! and we shall take our stand among the nations of the earth!' Here he ceased; and col. John Overton says, he shall never forget the voice and prophetic manner with which these predictions were uttered, and which have been since so literally verified. Colonel Overton says, at the word independence the company appeared to be startled; for they had never heard any thing of the kind before even suggested."

The next is to be found in p. 113 of the work before us.

When Mr. Henry returned from the first Congress, he was "as was natural, surrounded by his neighbors, who were eager to hear not only what had been done, but what kind of men had composed that illustrious body. He answered their enquiries with all his wonted kindness and candor; and having been asked by one of them, "whom he thought the greatest man in Congress," he replied—"If you speak of eloquence, Mr. Rutledge of South Carolina, is by far the greatest orator; but if you speak of solid information and sound judgment, Colonel Washington, is unquestionably the greatest man on that floor."

Another instance of his prescience occurs in a speech of his just after the close of the war, in which he uses these expressions:—

"Encourage the husbandmen, the mechanics, the merchants of the old world to come and settle in this land of promise—make it the home of the skilful, the industrious, the fortunate and happy, as well as the asylum of the distressed—fill up the measure of your population as speedily as you can, by the means which Heaven hath placed in your power—and I venture to prophecy there are those now living, who will see this favored land amongst the most powerful on earth—able, sir, to take care of herself, without resorting to that policy, which is always so dangerous, though sometimes unavoidable, of calling in foreign aid. Yes, sir,—they will see her great in arts and in arms—her golden harvests waving over fields of immeasurable extent—her commerce penetrating the most distant seas, and her cannon silencing the vain boasts of those, who now proudly affect to rule the waves."

Again, in p. 409 we have the following:

"Mr. Gallatin came to Virginia when a very young man: he was obscure and unknown, & spoke the English language so badly, that it was with difficulty he could be understood. He was engaged in some agency which made it necessary to present a petition to the assembly, and endeavored to interest the leading members in its fate, by attempting to explain, out of doors, its merits and justice. But they could not understand him well enough to feel any interest either for him or his petition. In this hopeless condition he waited on Mr. Henry, and soon felt that he was in different hands. Mr. Henry, on his part, was so delighted with the interview, that he spoke of Mr. Gallatin every where in raptures—"he declared him without hesitation or doubt, to be the most sensible and best informed man he had ever conversed with—he is to be sure," said he, "a most astonishing man!" The reader well knows how eminently Mr. Gallatin has since fulfilled this character; and considering the very disadvantageous circumstances under which he was seen by Mr. Henry, it is certainly a striking proof of the superior sagacity of the observer."

And lastly, this anecdote, in the words of Mr. Pope, p. 410:

"In the year 1798, after Bonaparte had annihilated five Austrian armies, and flushed with victory, was carrying away every thing before him, I heard Mr. Henry in a public company observe (shaking his head after his impressive manner)—'It won't all do! the present generation in France is so debased by a long despotism—they possess so few of the virtues that constitute the life and soul of republicanism, that they are incapable of forming a correct and just estimate of rational liberty. Their revolution will terminate differently from what you expect—their state of anarchy will be succeeded by despotism; and I should not be surprised if the very man at whose victories you now rejoice, should, Cæsar-like, subvert the liberties of his country. All who know me (continued Mr. Henry) know that I am a firm advocate for liberty and republicanism: I believe I have given some evidences of this. I wish it may not be so; but I am afraid the event will justify this prediction."

[To be concluded to-morrow.]

ADVENTURES OF A BLANKETEER,
As related by himself to a friend, on his return from London.

Well, John, where hast been?

To Lunnun, as I toud thee, wi Petition.

Well, and how didst fare?

Well, I'll tell thee.—Thou knowst I can walk a tightish pace, and I ne'er look'd behind me for t'rest o chaose, for I thou't we should aw meet in Lunnun; so when I got to Lunnun, I look'd about me, but I could na find my comrades, an I thou't best place for me were to go to Mester Cobbett's.—I'd got Register in my pocket, an found out where 'twas, an ax'd for Mester Cobbett, an they tou'd me he were out of town, an wou'd na be a whoam for three weeks.—I thout 'twas odd, an ax'd where I cou'd see Lord Cockran, an they tou'd me, an I went, an I see'd Lord Cockran, an he ax'd what I wanted, an I tou'd him I were come frx Manchester; an he look'd an ax'd where was aw the rest? an I tou'd him I did na know, but I thout some were in Chester Castle, some in New Bailey, an some in one hale or t'other on t' road, for I'd seen most o' 'em; an he tou'd me I had better go to Lord Sidmouth wi my petition, for he had nou't to do wi it, an he tou'd me where to go, an I went. But I thout somehow Lord Cockran were not glad to see me, an look'd glumish.

Why, he ax'd me what I wanted; an I tou'd him I were come up wi petition to incense Prince Regent about things in our part, for they were mighty bad, an wanted mending.—An he said, What wouldst ha' Prince Regent do? I tou'd him I did na know, but I was tou'd that it we had Triangular Parliaments things would be right enough.—An he said why so?—Because, I said, we should aw have Universal Sufferings, an that wou'd be the making of us. So he smiled an said, well, leave petition, an I think thee hadst better go whoam. I said I thout so too, but I did na know how. He ax'd me how much money I started wi'? An that there man they talken so much agen, that Lord Sidmouth, he were the best man I saw in Lunnun, an I'll never talk agen him any more!

"We write now chiefly to apprise you of the great change taking place in trade here; goods are generally rising. Iron is in extraordinary demand, and has advanced considerably. Copper and brass have advanced from 50 to 60 per cent. All kinds of locks, hinges, bolts, &c. are already advancing, and in some articles from twenty-five to thirty per cent; of course, all kinds of brass and copper goods will advance immediately and considerably. Hardware in general will be higher, on account of the advance in wages, as well as in the materials. This will serve for your guidance in taking orders—or if you have taken any, it will be necessary to inform the parties that we cannot execute any orders except they are subject to any advances that may take place. The goods sent to ———, being mostly heavy goods, are now worth considerable more than invoiced at; so that you can have no difficulty in selling them at a good price, as well as the other goods on hand." FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CONGRESS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, Monday, Dec. 8.

A bill from the select committee appointed to enquire into the expediency of a commutation of money for the Bounty Lands granted to soldiers, was reported by Mr. Johnson, read twice, referred to a committee of the whole, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Rhea of Tennessee, then proposed the following resolution:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to lay before the House of Representatives any information he may possess and think proper to communicate, relative to the proceedings of certain persons who took possession of Amelia Island, at the mouth of St. Mary's river, near the boundary of the state of Georgia, in the summer of the present year, and made an establishment there—and also any information he has and may think proper to communicate relative to an establishment made at an earlier period by persons of the same description, in the Gulf of Mexico, at a place called Galvestown, within the limits of the United States, as we contend under the cession of Louisiana—together with the REASON why they are ordered to be suppressed.

Mr. Rhea said a few words explanatory of his object in this resolution, which we could not distinctly hear.

Mr. Forsyth considered the last part of this proposition as very extraordinary after what the President had stated respecting the circumstance in his Message. In his opinion, to pass such a resolution, in such circumstances, would be to avow a doubt of the President, and a want of confidence in him, which were by no means entertained by that House. He therefore moved to strike out that part of the resolution.

Mr. Nelson thought it would be better to limit the terms of the resolution to the evidence upon which the President had proceeded. That evidence, he was persuaded, would convince the House that by the suppression of those establishments, the interests of the Patriots was most essentially promoted. For his own part, Mr. Nelson was so convinced of the wisdom and good conduct of government, that he wanted no information to satisfy him on the subject, but he wished to shew the world that our government would on no account or pretext give countenance to pirates and buccaneers.

The Speaker interrupted Mr. Nelson, and told him he was going aside from the question.

Mr. Holmes, (Mass.) said that he considered the resolution of Mr. Robertson sufficiently broad to comprehend the whole information desired by the resolution now proposed. He dared to say that within two or three days at most the Presidents report on the first of these resolutions would be before the House; He therefore recommended waiting for it, and to that end moved that the resolution should be laid upon the table.

Mr Nelson did not think the subject matters of the two resolutions so necessarily connected, as that an answer to one would include an answer to the other. He was desirous that the nation and the whole world should witness the conduct and the motives of the President, being assured that they would therein perceive the strongest disposition on the part of the President to promote the interests of the Patriots, which he could not more effectually do than by absolving them from the suspicion and foul stain of having any connection with those free booters. Not only in this, but in every case that occurred, had our government manifested an earnest desire to further the glorious cause in which the Provinces were embarked; and in what way was it possible, under existing circumstances, to countenance and support their interests than by sending a national vessel with ministers on board it, to enquire into their situation, and by being the first among the nations of the earth to hold forth a hand to them—by putting them on a level with the mother country, by making no difference between their flag and that of Spain, and admitting them into our ports on an equal footing with the most favored nations.

Mr. Robertson felt disposed to vote for the motion to lay the resolution on the table until the information requested by the former resolution should be sent by the President. If that information did not include an answer to the present proposition, the resolution of the honorable member from Tennessee might be passed.

Mr. Miller (S. C.) thought the objects of the two resolutions were quite distinct, and, therefore, would vote against laying the resolution on the table.

Mr. Johnson said that if the suppression of the establishment at Galvestown had any operation at all, it was evidently that of leaning against the Patriots.—On this point he completely agreed with the honorable Speaker in what he said a few days ago—not, as had been erroneously supposed, that the acts of government were hostile, but that they were on one side, and leaned against the Patriots: a fact which required no stronger proof than that they were done at the instance of the Spanish minister. Finally he said that as the President might, if he thought proper, consolidate his reports on both resolutions into one, he would vote against laying the resolution on the table.

General Harrison said, that considering that the President had stated expressly in his Message that it was a fact well known to the world, that East Florida was a subject of Negotiation with the Spanish Government, and that therefore it excited surprise that any countenance should be given by the Spanish Patriots to the Aggression on that Province, and as on the other hand it had been asserted that the conduct of our Government leaned hard against the Patriots, he thought the matter ought to be explained and therefore would oppose the resolution being laid on the table.

Mr. Holmes' motion to lay the resolution on the table was on a division Negatived by 81 to 75. Upon which, Mr. Rhea accepting Mr. Forsyth's modification the resolution passed unanimously.

A resolution was then passed on the motion of Mr. Forsyth directing the committee of Commerce and Manufactures to enquire into the expediency of making Darien in the state of Georgia a port of entry.

C. J. Kilgour is appointed an Associate Judge of the 3d Judicial District of Maryland, vice R. H. Harwood, resigned.

William Gray is unanimously re-elected President of the Branch at Boston, and James A. B. Buchanan of that at Baltimore.

Isaac Lawrence is appointed President of the Office of Discount and Deposit in New York, in the place of John Jacob Astor, declined.

The following resolution of thanks was unanimously passed by the Board of Directors of that Office:

"Resolved, That the respectful thanks of this Board be presented to John Jacob Astor, Esq. for the able, impartial, and dignified manner with which he has presided during the past year."

Horace Holley, a clergyman, of Boston, is chosen President of the Transylvania University, in Kentucky.

VIRGINIA.

Among the petitions presented in the House of Delegates of Virginia, on Thursday last, was a memorial from the mechanics and others, inhabitants of Richmond, praying for the establishment of a bank, to be styled "The Mechanics' Bank of Virginia," with a capital of one million of dollars—of which institution, two-thirds, or a majority of the directors, were to be mechanics. This memorial was rejected—being fifty-seven ayes for referring it, and seventy noes against it. [Nat. In.

IMPORTANT FROM FRANCE.

It is stated in the late accounts from France, that when the resignation of the Duc de Feltre was made known to the Duke of Wellington, he protested against the measure, and threatened that, if accepted, it would be considered as a measure of hostility to England. The French ministry replied, that as Frenchmen, undeterred by menaces, they would pursue such measures as the interests of France dictated, and that the resignation of the Duc de Feltre would be received the next ernier, and that Gouvion St. Cyr would be appointed in his place.

The ministry have also recommended to the king the adoption of the TRI COLORED FLAG, as the national colors—a measure to set of amnesty to be passed, and the emigrants to be permitted to return. The old veterans are also to be taken into the service, in the room of the young men who have been placed in their stations.

These are important indications of the state of public opinion in France, and they are in entire accordance with all the recent and authentic advices which have reached us from that country.

LATEST FROM FRANCE.

The ship Hannibal, captain Leach, arrived here yesterday, in 47 days from Havre.

Mr. Toplif, of Merchants' Hall, has favored us with French papers to the 12th, and Mr. Hooper, of the Exchange Coffee House, to the 14th October.

The different powers of Europe seem to be taking precautionary measures against our vessels, in consequence of the malignant fever which lately raged in the south; but if properly informed by their agents in this country, a just discrimination might be made between vessels proceeding from the middle and northern states, and those from the south.

The emperor Alexander had arrived on the borders of the Dwina.

The accouchement of the wife of prince Eugene took place at Munich on the 2d October. Her highness and the infant were doing well.

The Sultana Valide, mother to the Grand Seignor, died at Constantinople on the 8th September, of consumption, and, according to Mahometan custom, was interred the same day of her death. Her income was $2,000,000 a year, which falls to the Grand Seignor.

Several Tripolitan corsairs had appeared on the coast of Tuscany.

THEATRE.

THE public are respectfully informed that the Theatre, having undergone considerable alterations and improvements, will open, for the season, on THURSDAY EVENING, Dec. 11.

The lower part of the house which has heretofore been considered inconvenient, has been most particularly attended to: it is now partitioned off into eight boxes, and will hereafter be under the same rules as in all regular Theatres, viz. The Box Office will be open every day, where will remain a plan of the Boxes, which may be taken by a whole box, bench or individual sitting, provided the Tickets are taken at the same time. The public will please to observe that an individual sitting cannot be taken on the front benches, nor can those seats be let, except with the number of tickets making the complement for the whole bench.

The Pit for the future will be under the same regulations as the Boxes; and the Gallery, which has for several years been closed, will now be opened for the reception of people of color exclusively.

It is the wish of the Managers to establish the Theatre on a solid basis; to effect which, Rules and Regulations are essentially necessary; in their choice of them they have only the public feeling at heart, and they have confidance that in presenting to the citizens of Alexandria a regular and well governed Theatre, they will be crowned with that liberality and support which has been bestowed on anterior exertions.

It is most particularly requested that gentlemen will not smoke in the house; the practice within the walls of a Theatre is not only offensive, but dangerous.

It having been the practice of a number of ill disposed boys, who nightly infest the doors of the Theatre, not only to exercise unlawful means of admission, but, failing in their object, to make a riotous and outrageous noise, much to the discomfiture of the audience and interruption of the performance: the Managers give this timely notice to inform them, that officers will be stationed in future to observe them, who will, by their orders, take into custody the first who shall be found committing either of the above misdemeanors, and that they shall be dealt with according to law.

On the above evening will be presented Tobin's celebrated Comedy, in five acts, called Sully for Sale.

THIS estate, situated in the county of Fairfax, twenty two miles from Alexandria, and the same distance from Georgetown, contains about seven hundred and fifty acres. Little River Turnpike passes through it half a mile from the dwelling house. The situation is handsome, and remarkably healthy; the water is good and abundant. The soil which was originally excellent, has for some years past had the advantage of improving husbandry, Plaister of Paris acting with powerful and immediate effect on all grasses and grains. The fields present a good surface for cultivation, and those, now untilled, are covered with red clover. The orchards are very large and thrifty; the collection of table fruit is choice and various. The mansion is spacious and well constructed: the outhouses are conveniently situated, and the whole have been lately thoroughly repaired and painted. The farm houses, which are all nearly new, are expensive and excellent in their kind.

For a gentleman of leisure this would be a delightful residence; and a profitable estate for an active farmer. The title is indisputable, and perfectly unincumbered.

A number of well taught orderly young men, with good stocks and farming utensils of all kinds, and the crops of the present year, if desired, will be at the command of the purchaser.

Application may be made to the subscriber, living on the premises, next the post-office at Pleasant Valley, in Fairfax.

Ned is well made, high forehead and large flat nose; had on when he went away a grey coat and pantaloons, but as he was well provided with cloathing of various kinds, it is probable he may have changed his dress. It is believed he went off with his wife, who it appears left Richmond at the same time: she is very black, and, I believe, somewhat pitted with the small pox, talks a great deal, of short stature, and rather thick made. Ned is very artful, and may probably attempt to pass for a free man; he has a down look when spoken to. James Kennedy & Son,

BOOKSELLERS,

KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

Lee's Medicine Store,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Loxenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance; they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of spirits	Melancholy
Loss of appetite	Gout in the stomach
Impurity of b'ood	Pains in the limbs
Hysteric'l affection	Relaxations, etc.
Inward weaknesses and debility

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.
